The "University of Virginia Bulletins, addressed to the alumni of the University

The pamphlet is published quarterly by the faculty, and its aim is to outline the work of the General Alumini Association and of the University.

Amongst other announcements, there appears the following:

"We had the pleasure of recording last spring a gradfying meroase in the attendance upon the University, the total numbers running up from 614 to 600, an in

"This year we can report a similar in crease, the total enrollment to date be-erease, the total enrollment to date being 706, making a total gain of 9% men in two years. Of these ta few names being repeated in several departments, 230 are in the academic department, 200 in the law department, 130 in the medical and 88 in the engineering. "This constitutes a record-breaking year in several particulars. The enrollment is the largest in the entire history of the University, for the first time going beyond the 700 mark. For the first time, also, in the University's listory the corollment in a professional department reaches 200. The number of senguering students is also the largest that departs reaches 200. The number of engineering students is also the largest that department has even seen, while the enrollment in the academic department is the largest since the Civil War. Last session there were 300 students in the aexlymic department of whom one obtained the degree of Ph. D., eight the degree of M. A., and thirteen the degree of E. A. There were forty-four graduates of achool (M. A. work) and 164 passed B. A. courses, leading to the bachelor's degree.

Organization of New Associations.

"Since the report of last June, two new local chapters of the General Association have been organized with about twenty members each. Both are located in Virmembers each. Both are located in Virginia—the one at Front Royal and the other in Shenandoah county. The officers of the Front Royal Chapter are:
Hon. H. H. Downing, president; Major E. J. Armstrong, vice-president, and Prof. T. J. O'Nelll, secretary and treasurer. The officers off the Shenandoah County Chapter are: P. W. Magruder, president; Colonel E. E. Stickley, vice-president, and Mr. N. B. Wundy, secretary and treasurer.

The gift of the general library of about 200 volumes by the Rev. Haslett McKim, of New York,—one of several donations by this distinguished alumnus—added many sets and volumes of works that are rare and of great and increasing value. Other, but smaller gifts and purchases out of the income of the Byrd Find, have enriched the collection.

On the evening of the 16th of November the Price library, the gift of which was announced in the last annual letter, was formally presented, and accepted. President Alderman presided. Professor Gidersleeve, of Johns Hopkins University, made the address presenting, and Capturit W. Gordon McCabe, the address accepting the books. In money, the aggregate of donations promises to exceed by far that of last year ($100,000). An important part of this is the result of the movement set on foot by the Washington Alumni Association.

'On February 8th Mr. Andrew Carnegis gave his promise to the president of a sift of $500,000, on condition that a similar amount be raised by the alumni and friends of the University. Furthermore, he presented $7,000 to the purchase of a minguilitent pipe organ for use in the auditorium.

A matter worthy of note is the organization of a society, amongst the students, known as the Raven Society (after Poe's immortal work), the purpose of which is to sneotyrage all kinds of intellectual endeavor. No man can become a member whose scholarshid is not good. In most instances he must be one of the first men in his class. A few are admitted whose scholarshid is not so high f they have achieved pronounced intellectual successalong othed lines, such as debating, editing papers or magazines, writing, etc. The society expects from time to time to invite a limited number of distinguished alumnt to become honorary tinguished alumni to become honorar members.
